Video Inspection Can Save Consumers Hundreds Of Dollars

When it comes to locating and identifying the source of clogged drains and sewer lines, nothing works quite like the Video Inspection & Pipe Line Location System.

This high-tech tool can save hundreds of dollars in drain cleaning expenses by providing preventive maintenance of sewer and drain lines, septic tanks, heating and cooling ducts, crawl spaces, chimneys, attics, wells and much more.

Aqueduct Plumbing, certified technicians locate problems with pipes even when located deep under the ground inside clay or cast iron pipe. The system locates the problem within an inch, avoiding extensive and unsightly property excavation commonly associated with searching for clogs and blockages.

Using the video inspection system allows plumbing technicians to visually capture the problem and show it to homeowners, instead of trying to verbalize it. The service offers consumers peace of mind by isolating the precise problem, avoiding the chance to be victimized by false claims that sewer lines might be broken or collapsed. Without the system, such claims can cost homeowners hundreds and even thousands of dollars in repairs.

In addition, the equipment can record the problem on a built-in VCR to ensure documentation.
